He likes to perfect distance archery and long range rifle techniques and always enjoys discussing hunting with others. Ben is the owner and founder of Prairie Fire Pheasants, a private hunting reserve in the heart of Kansas.

◀ THOMAS is one of our lead trackers who's skills and expertise ensures an unforgettable hunt.

Born and raised with Agricultural roots in South Carolina, he has a deep passion for land and wildlife conservation, and works to extend the tradition of hunting for future generations to come. Currently residing on the South Carolina coast in Charleston, SC, John Martin enjoys laid back southern living and all the wildlife it has to offer. He is an avid fisherman, white tail deer hunter, wild turkey, and wing-shooter, whose passions have taken him to numerous states and countries in pursuit of these wild game for the past 20 years. He has found a new love for plains and dangerous game hunting that South African Safaris offers, after sharing his first hunt with his late father in 2018. He wishes to carry on his father's tradition of introducing avid hunters to Safari adventures, so that they can also experience the greatest hunting thrill of them all"

“.....TEAMWORK MAKES THE DREAM WORK...”

RUAN SMIT
AMBASSADOR

Hunting is in Ruan's blood; a skill and passion passed down through generations. From a very young age he joined his father on many hunts with both local and international clients. By the age of 7 he shot his first Impala. By the age of 18 he had shot over 1000 game animals. At the age of 21 Ruan became a professional hunter whereafter he went to Mozambique where he hunted dangerous game such as buffalo, hippos, crocodiles and elephants. Ruan loves the thrill of the unexpected and has never wavered during leopard, lion or rhino hunts. Ruan thoroughly enjoyed hunts in the neighbouring countries namely Botswana, Zimbabwe and Mozambique. In 2021 he joined the African Wild Safaris team where he continues to live out his passion. Ruan is known for going the extra mile to give his clients the best experience possible.

EDDIE WENTZEL
AMBASSADOR

Eddie Wentzel has been hunting from a young age with his dad and brother and has always been passionate about hunting. He started hunting in 1998 as a professional hunter and have hunted in South Africa and Zambia and have experience in all the big five hunting.

Hunting plains game is also one of the things he love with the big variety of animals we have in South Africa. He is not just a professional hunter but a outfitter as well. Good with clients and have good knowledge of wildlife.

NEAL MURPHY
US AMBASSADOR

Neal started out bow hunting at the age of 13 in Colorado hunting deer and elk. He took some time off from hunting while he served in the Us Marine Corps but started back up after he was honorable discharged. Neal now lives in East Tennessee where he enjoys fishing, deer, turkey, and ram hunting with his beautiful wife. He's an avid outdoorsman that connects with the cleanliness of the woods and conservation of the animals he hunts. He's hunted big game in South Africa, Argentina and all over the United States. His preferred hunting methods are archery and long rifle.

GEOFF MCGREGOR
US AMBASSADOR

Geoff starting hunting at the age of 15 with his brother and dad in eastern Nebraska. We focused on pheasants in Nebraska which has always been my favorite species to hunt, its just a perfect blend of recreational movement, socializing with friends and excitement. My favorite species to hunt is White tail deer in Nebraska.

I have hunted or fished, South Africa, Nebraska, Idaho, Texas, Oklahoma, Iowa, South Dakota, Colorado, Louisiana, Canada, and Alaska. Currently obsessing over archery elk hunting.

“.....TEAMWORK MAKES THE DREAM WORK...”

JACK SAMP
US AMBASSADOR

Jack is an avid outdoorsman who has been hunting since he was 10 years old but going along with my dad and uncle ever since I could walk. Over the years, I have had many experiences hunting different big game animals throughout my home state of Wyoming: elk, mule deer, pronghorn, and moose. I also have traveled over state lines to Kansas and Nebraska to chase whitetail deer and turkeys. Waterfowl hunting and fishing are other passions of mine. I also enjoy performing agricultural-related work.

Hunting in South Africa was a completely new experience for me, and I was hooked. Going on a safari in Africa was like calling in a big bull elk while archery hunting: The adrenalin rush never gets old, so you want to go back and chase that adrenalin again and again.

SETH HARRIS
US AMBASSADOR

Seth was raised in rural Pennsylvania, shooting nuisance animals on the family farm at a very early age. Hunting big game with his father until old enough to secure his own license, he has appreciated hunting bear, deer, and turkey in the snow-covered Northeastern US.

Now living in the low country of South Carolina, he continues to enjoy big game with a passion for long range, and small game at distance for the increased marksmanship challenges.

Adding the exhilaration of safaris in South Africa has only unlocked a deeper passion for the hunt, experiences, terrain, and species that Africa has to offer.

CAMERON FERGUSON
US AMBASSADOR

Cameron started hunting for doves around the age of 5. I was as the “bird dog” for my dad and brothers. I would go fetch injures doves for them with a BB gun.

My favorite species is a tough one. I'd like to think an elk because it's my number one dream animal and something I hope to do this coming year. Buffalo hunting with the African Wild Safari crew last time in Africa is the most fun I've ever had and I never fired a gun as it was 6 friends with one mission, a lot of adrenaline, and a lot of laughs. African game is another level of adrenaline and challenge that is hard to beat. Rifle is my go to big game. I respect bow hunters, their patience, and the adrenaline from it, but rifles are just too affective long range to not enjoy. I've hunted South Africa, South Carolina, Arkansas, North Carolina, Tennessee, and California.

SHOOTING RANGE & HIDES

At our 1000 yard shooting range, hunters can prepare and get their guns ready for the hunt.

We have well situated elevated- and ground blinds near waterholes, that will optimize the bowhunters' chance to bag great trophies.

There are also blinds specifically positioned to give the long distance shooter the opportunity to put his skills and equipment to the test.

CONSERVATION & TRAINING

MOPANE INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL

We pride ourselves in supporting the local community and school, and do regular donations. In economically depressed and protein poor rural areas tourist hunting is a viable source of meat for the pot. One hind quarter of a buffalo provide almost 900 lean, healthy servings of meat to people who ordinarily have none.

TREE PLANTING

At African Wild Safaris we strive towards planting a tree every day, and also grow our own organic vegetables.

BOW HUNTING

FROM A WORLD RENOWNED AUTHOR'S PEN

Nothing could've prepared me for our experience with African Wild Safaris. It's hard to say what was the most enjoyable aspect.

The hunting?

After one day of watching our PH Ruan spot "invisible" game deep within the bush, our group set a goal of spotting one animal before he did. Just one. It never happened. How he sees what he sees will remain forever a mystery.

Watching the trackers work was nothing short of magic. Where you see rocks and the intermingled tracks of a hundred animals, they see your animal's tracks, and where the animal is headed.

The kindness, sense of humor and enthusiasm of our PH was a joy. It must've been a bit frustrating for him, as we were just hunting impala, warthog, and wildebeest, but he managed to put us in the perfect spot to harvest hippo, giraffe, rhino, Cape buffalo, eland, massive crocs, greater kudu, water buck, gold wildebeest, nyala, baboon, spring buck, and zebra—and I'm talking great shots available every time... without ever leaving the ranch.

Ruan's graciousness to our wives made their hunts with us unforgettable—in fact, coming along on the hunts was their favorite part of the week.

The experience?

The overall facilities, grounds, and accommodations are on par with a 4-Star all-inclusive on the coast of Mexico. The food is nothing less than exquisite—every meal is creative and sumptuous. The owners, Glen and Charmaine, treated us like family, and their hospitality was warm and genuine. Having grown up in the Deep South of the United States, to be impressed by someone's hospitality is saying a lot. When we departed, we left behind friends, not hosts.

The staff is gracious, kind, and moves quietly in the background—and laundry done daily enables guests to pack light. In addition, coming home to a squeaky-clean room each evening was also wonderful.

The side trip to Kruger National Park?

We were taken to the park by Charmaine herself, who knows all the special roads that lead to game simply wandering the vast park... with an up-close look that's impossible with hunted game. We were close enough to look into the eyes of elephant, giraffe, hyena, Cape buff, and plains animals by the dozens.

The accommodations at Kruger were also exceptional, and overlook a river teeming with wildlife, with wonderful food and bar service.

Charmaine even arranged for a sunset game cruise, which ended with drinks overlooking a bloat of hippos. I'd recommend any group with two days to spare take this one-of-a-kind excursion.

African Wild Safaris is not an outfitter—they are the turnkey option for an amazing safari. No traveling to other ranches is needed—you'll settle into one place, and enjoy the experience of a lifetime. That, I can promise.

CONSERVATION

Freedom at Last

Pizulu came to Leadwood Ranch on 6 December 2020. He was confiscated out of 'the trade'. Pangolin are currently the most trafficked species hence great care is taken to securely rehabilitate and release them - each life matters. He was fitted the necessary tracking equipment in order for his rehabilitation and moveabout to be monitored and data to be captured.

After 9 months of monitoring him the rehabilitation team was satisfied that he had settled in his new area. Consequently all tracking devices were removed and Pizulu is now the first successful release in Limpopo. Great work from the rehabilitation team that save no time no cost and no expense to commit themselves to the survival of this special species.

Our Veterinarian attending to a female leopard that was caught in a snare a few miles from us. She was relocated here and adapted easily.
